Mayor's Message

Welcome to the Winter 2023 edition of Look East

Since the start of 2023, the City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters has been an epicentre for major sporting events, as well as an exciting art and cultural hub, while the Council has continued to finalise significant ongoing projects to benefit the entire City.

This has been due to the consistent and strategic decision-making of the Elected Members and dedicated and tireless work of the Council's staff and Volunteers.

I am very proud of the Council which is governing with a strong sense of purpose and it is clear that the new Councillors who were elected in November 2022, are enjoying the challenge and responsibility that comes with the role of representing their community.

The community should feel confident that the Council is working together and is engaged in the issues that matter to citizens.

It has been great to see elite sporting events including the Gather Round and Santos Tour Down Under which have drawn large crowds, adding a buzz to our already lively City streets.

The Council was delighted that Norwood Oval hosted two matches as part of the inaugural AFL Gather Round in April, resulting in a significant economic injection into the local economy.

Based on the Spendmapp data, $2.215 million was spent in the dining and hospitality sector in Norwood over the three-day weekend, with the Friday reporting a record spend of $876,000 at local hotels, cafes and restaurants.

As a result of this success, the Council has formally expressed its interest with the AFL and the State Government for Norwood Oval to again feature in next year's Gather Round, which will be played between 4–7 April 2024.

In May, Elected Members and staff joined the local community on the Plaza at the St Peters Library for a barbecue lunch to celebrate the completion of the $4.5 million upgrade of St Peters Street.

It was a fantastic opportunity to meet and hear from residents about their appreciation for the work undertaken and also to thank them for their patience during the 15-month work schedule.

The upgrade is in addition to a range of other projects that the Council has either completed, or is in the final stages of completing, including the Dunstan Adventure Playground and Cruickshank Reserve Facility Upgrade, both of which are expected to be completed in December this year.

The Linear Park Bank Erosion Remediation Project has just been completed and is open to the public. To read more about this significant project see page 15.

Even though the weather is cold and wet, there is always plenty to do in our City.

Check out the Winter Warmers story for some ideas to keep you busy during Winter, including enjoying a visit to one of the City's oldest operating venues, taking a walk along our stunning Public Art Trail while enjoying a freshly roasted barista coffee, or rugging up to see the Redlegs at Norwood Oval.

The Council is once again hosting Raising the Bar Adelaide, bringing together 20 thought-provoking speakers at 10 different venues for one night.

In this edition of Look East, we talk exclusively to The Advertiser's Chief Court Reporter Sean Fewster, who will be speaking along with his co-host Daniel Panozzo from the podcast Just Lawful at this iconic event on 8 August.

I hope you enjoy this Winter edition of Look East.

Gather Round

A roaring and triumphant success

In April this year, football lovers from around Australia filled the iconic Norwood Oval to watch two nail-biting matches as part of the inaugural AFL Gather Round.

Universally considered a triumph, with all nine matches in South Australia selling out, including the Gold Coast vs Fremantle and GWS vs Hawthorn matches played at Norwood Oval on Friday 14 and Sunday 16 April, AFL Gather Round exceeded all expectations.

Hoping to capitalise on the unprecedented national exposure for The Parade, at its May meeting, the Council unanimously voted to express its interest to the AFL and the State Government to be involved in next year's Gather Round.

The Council also allocated $100,000 as part of the 2023–2024 Budget for events and activities associated with Gather Round, should Norwood Oval again be selected to host AFL matches.

“From the Council’s perspective, the AFL Gather Round was an outstanding success for South Australia and in particular, for the City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters, the iconic Norwood Oval and South Australia’s Premier Main Street, The Parade,” Mayor Bria said.

“As with any new major event, there is room for improvement and the Council is determined to learn from this experience and identify opportunities to make the 2024 AFL Gather Round an even greater success, should Norwood Oval have the honour of again being selected to host matches.”

Word on The Parade

“Gather Round brought a range of benefits to South Australia and we are thrilled to see the great results for Norwood that resulted into pumping $2.2 million into the suburb.” South Australia’s Minister for Tourism, Zoe Bettison MP.

“I was talking to the Mayor of Norwood ... and what we can do with Norwood Parade...We’ve been talking to the Premier with what we can do there.” Former AFL Chief Executive Officer, Gillon McLachlan “Gather Round is about five-fold on one good SANFL game because we get 4500 for SANFL and we got over 9000 for both AFL games.” Norwood Oval Stadium Manager Patrick Allan.

“These numbers are incredible and shows that AFL football is very much welcomed on The Parade given the number of hotels, cafes and restaurants fans visited before and after the two matches.” Mayor of City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters, Robert Bria.

“The atmosphere that was produced was something we haven’t seen for a long time on The Parade and we really hope The Parade gets the opportunity to host again next year.” The Colonist Tavern Senior Operations Manager, Bree Stoldt.

“I have never seen such crowds on The Parade. The place was buzzing and we turned the tables around three times on the Friday night.” 400 Gradi Venue Manager, Alessia Campagnaro. Pictured top right.

“The Parade looks great, we are going to see pubs full for these sell-out games. Norwood is putting on a great show”

Premier Peter Malinauskas MP

Two million reasons to welcome back AFL to South Australia's Premier Main Street

The two AFL matches played at Norwood Oval provided a massive economic injection into the local economy with hotels, restaurants and cafes reaping the benefits during the action-packed weekend.

The combined expenditure in the hospitality and entertainment sector in Norwood across the Friday, Saturday and Sunday contributed $2.215 million to the local economy, $730,000 more than the average spend over those three days.

The Gold Coast versus Fremantle match under lights on Friday 13 April, saw a record $876,000 spent, representing the single largest daily expenditure in the dining and entertainment sector since the Council starting collecting Spendmapp data in July 2018.

Spendmapp data takes into account all eftpos debit and credit card transactions and makes adjustments to account for all other transactions to ensure cash and non-card payments are included to create a comprehensive representation of the economy.

Jacquelyne Ladner

Meet our Staff

Jacquelyne Ladner – Cultural Heritage Coordinator

Jacquelyne Ladner’s innate fascination with history stems back to her childhood.

“I remember as a little girl, I was fascinated with Tutankhamun. I planned on marrying him and being his princess...but he was a bit old for me.”

Despite the obvious age difference and every other unobtainable notion of her marriage plan, Jacquelyne did however decide to pursue her lifelong love of archaeology.

When her two children were at kindy age, Jacquelyne left her career in the banking industry and went to university as a mature age student and studied....and studied.

Over several years, she commenced a double degree in Archaeology and Palaeoanthropology; transferring to a Bachelor of Arts in Australian and International History mid degree, and was a fly-in, fly-out student between her home in Adelaide and New South Wales. This was followed by an award winning Honours degree investigating the physical and socio-psychological conditions of a POW Camp at Torrens Island, South Australia.

“I’ve visited over twenty countries including two trips to Egypt and aid work in Asia. I can’t wait to see what other secrets Egypt divulges in my life time. During these travels I’ve been fortunate enough to see some of the best museums in the world”.

All of which she describes as “fascinating and fabulous”.

Jacquelyne has since worked at several museums, as well as being a tour guide at the former quarantine station on Torrens Island.

Her most recent job before joining the Council was at the Health Museum of SA caring for their extensive and interesting collection of medical paraphernalia.

Jacquelyne’s decision to leave the Health Museum to become the Council’s Cultural Heritage Coordinator, was to “keep her skills fresh” and her desire to work in one of the most culturally significant areas of South Australia, the City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters.

Her immediate plans for the Centre include digitising and conserving the civic collection to make it more accessible to the public and to ensure longevity for posterity.

Jacquelyne started with the Council in January this year and her first exhibition was Beyond the Bleachers—a look into the history of the Norwood Football Club. Beyond the Bleachers was considered a remarkable success, which received wide-ranging television coverage and promotion.

Jacquelyne’s next exhibition is called Point of View and focuses on capturing the history of the City through a camera lens.

Tolga Okar and Claire Gower

Meet our Volunteer

Tolga Okar – Stepping Out Program

Never underestimate the power of humanity.

This is the powerful message that Volunteer Tolga Okar wants to share with his global community.

Tolga, who is originally from Istanbul, has lived and worked all over the world. With an Honours Degree in English Philology from Istanbul University, the Certified Digital Marketing and Sales Professional said he never once anticipated he would be a Volunteer at the City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters.

But life is about experiences and Tolga has a very enriched and encouraging outlook.

Tolga, who is fluent in Turkish, English, French and with a good understanding of Mandarin and German, was faced with a very uncertain future when he was made redundant after moving to South Australia, with his wife and son aged six, in January 2019.

“I struggled to find a job which was parallel to my experience and corporate level of work,” Tolga said.

“It was right before COVID-19, I was in a new City, my only contact in Adelaide was the Turkish Association of South Australia who advised me to use my multinational intercultural human experiences and languages as a Volunteer.”

Tolga is now a Volunteer with the Council’s Stepping Out Program, and he has developed a special bond with a lady named Claire, who contacted the Council after experiencing loneliness due to various health conditions.

“I have this pleasure and inner satisfaction when Volunteering. It is a mutual thing. We are feeding each other throughout our life and cultural experiences. We are all human. Our material is the same, we share the same agonies, joy, and pain.”

“I can feel Claire is a lady of steel. Recently, in Turkey there was an earthquake—it was so hurtful for us, but Claire was so helpful. She called me frequently and we have developed a strong connection.”

“Coincidentally, Claire was a former nurse and a carer which helps me to understand what a carer is, from an Australian cultural point of view.

During our chats, she has been giving me many tips about my new profession as a carer from another culture.”

Tolga also hosts podcasts on speakmylanguage.com.au, a project from the Multicultural Communities' Council of SA (MCCSA) where he speaks (in Turkish) to guests who have disabilities about community inclusion and accessibility, which is aired on multiple radio stations, Australia wide. He has also been working as a Volunteer with MCCSA, visiting elders from culturally and linguistically diverse communities in nursing homes.

Tolga is also undertaking Certificates in Disability and Aged Care which has led to employment in Nganana Inc. a not-for-profit community development organisation which works for people with disabilities from Indigenous backgrounds.

However, the most exciting news Tolga told Look East was that he, his wife Asli and his son Aksel had recently been welcomed as Australian Citizens and are going to live permanently in Kensington!

Congratulations Tolga and on behalf of the Council, we thank you for your generosity, wisdom and kind heartedness!

Winter Warmers in our City

Grant and Jacqui Goodall

The warmth and wonder of the historical Rising Sun Inn

It was in 1845 that William Beck, a released South African slave lay down the foundations of what is now the iconic and renowned restaurant, The Rising Sun Inn.

Beck encouraged the Inn to be a stop-over for weary travellers, who still had to cover six hours by horse and cart, following the path of Second Creek, before reaching the heart of Adelaide.

The Rising Sun Inn, in Kensington, which is today co-owned by Grant and Jacqui Goodall, is one of the oldest operating venues in South Australia.

They proudly tell of The Rising Sun Inn's legendary history—bushrangers roamed the area, and wild brawls were reported in the front bar.

Sitting in the boutique front bar, Grant looks around in awe and says: "If only these walls could talk..."

The love for the Inn is shared by many. In fact, many friendships and relationships have been formed by meeting there, including Jacqui and Grant.

While not willing to name names, some of Australia's most famous celebrities, along with international stars and sporting icons, have dined at the venue.

Perhaps the Inn's most notable claim to fame was 27 years ago, when a group of producers' brain-stormed in one of the dining rooms, coming up with the name of their company "Rising Sun Pictures", which went on to create special effects for a long list of Hollywood's leading productions, including Game of Thrones, Harry Potter and Lord of the Rings.

Today, the Rising Sun Inn is the ideal place for an intimate lunch or dinner, or even a corporate function, wedding or high tea, against a backdrop of the Heritage-listed building's four fire places.

With a modern Australian menu featuring seasonal local produce, and Winter specialties such as a 3-Pie Tasting Plate consisting of Beef & Coopers Stout, Chicken & Mushroom and Rabbit & Tarragon pies, along with a global wine list and European digestives, The Inn is the exemplar of Winter warmth and intimacy.

Currently, Jacqui and Grant have 12 staff including Executive Head Chef, Adam Zollo, and Leroy Nazareth, who is their Front of House Manager.

"We treat our staff like family and we select them based on their personality, as well as skills," Jacqui says.

"Together, we all form the team that is required to ensure our guests receive the fine dining experience they are looking for."

Winter activities to banish the cold weather blues

Latte art

It is a little uncanny that two of our Winter Warmers involve seeds.

Seed Mix, which features on the cover of this edition of Look East, is the latest installation on the Council's Public Art Map and can be admired at the Old Mill Reserve, Hackney.

Commissioned by the Council and created by artist Nicholas Uhlmann, the sculptures, Parrot Gumnut, Germinating Wheat Grain and a Golden Wattle Seed, celebrate the history of Old Mill Reserve by weaving contrasting cultures of Kaurna with early colonist grain processing.

Before you get to Old Mill Reserve, why not grab a delicious barista roasted coffee, from Rio Coffee in Stepney, to ensure you keep warm on your walk.

Rio Coffee, at 22 Nelson Street, is locally owned and family operated since 1964 and is also the oldest coffee roasting house in South Australia.

It offers hand-roasted, speciality coffee to businesses and individuals. It is also on the Council's Food Secrets + EWAT Bus Tour, which is becoming increasingly popular.

To download the Public Art Map visit www.npsp.sa.gov.au/pam

How about a Stout?

Don't be afraid of the dark this Winter. When it comes to beer, the colder months are the time when many craft enthusiasts like to look beyond lagers, pale ales and IPAs for the roasty flavour of brown ales, porters and stouts.

Little Bang Brewery has a selection of stouts at its Stepney HQ. www.littlebang.com.au

As does The Suburban Brew at its new Glynde home base. www.thesuburbanbrew.com.au

Rug up for the Redlegs

There is nothing quite like the roar of the crowd at the football. So switch off the television, grab a blanket, beanie and a thermos and head to Norwood Oval, on The Parade, to watch the mighty Redlegs and, shortly, the Crows AFLW team, and help encourage both teams as they try to claw their way to the top of the ladder.

An SA icon in our City

You are not South Australian if you don't love Menz FruChocs.... That may be a sweeping statement. But who doesn't love the delicious soft tangy fruit cubes covered in chocolate?

Menz FruChocs, which come in a variety of flavours, are manufactured right here in Glynde in the City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters.

If you are feeling like being a master chef this Winter, download a FruChoc recipe guide, varying from beginner to challenging and keep your friends, family and neighbours sumptuously satisfied. There are plenty of recipes to choose from!

Eastside Business Awards

Celebrating talent, diversity and leadership

The City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters business community has once again celebrated a wide range of industry leaders at the sixth annual Eastside Business Awards.

Mayor Robert Bria said the Awards, which were held at St Peters Banquet Hall on 19 April, reinforced that the City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters has some of the most highly regarded, resilient and creative businesses in South Australia.

This year, the Awards attracted a record number of votes with 11,062 received across the 11 categories.

Congratulating the finalists and winners at the Awards, which were also attended by the Minister for Small and Family Business, Andrea Michaels MP, Mayor Bria said: "It is one thing to be hardworking, another to be seen and heard. But it's essential to be celebrated and acknowledged and that is what makes tonight such a special occasion."

"This is the sixth Eastside Business Award ceremony and each year I stand here and feel a huge sense of pride to share this night with talented, driven, skilful and creative members of our community," he added.

"On behalf of the Council, I extend my gratitude and appreciation for all of the businesses, the finalists and the winners, who have worked so hard and contributed significantly to the social and economic fabric of our City.

"To be an Award winner or finalist, shows that a business has had an exceptional impact not only on an individual, but also the wider community, and that is something to be immensely proud of."

"This year, Awards also went to Mary MacKillop Museum, Taste of Nepal, Cheeky Grin Coffee, Reform Distilling and Marden Continental, highlighting the diversity of our economic community and why our City is such a popular place to shop, dine, grab a coffee or beer or enjoy a cultural experience."

The winner in each category received $1,000 of digital advertising services with Solstice Media and $1,000 of business advisory services thanks to John Zerella and his team at AFM Services.

2023 Eastside Business Hall of Fame Award winner Marcus Nardone

Gelato Bello's sweet recognition

Hall of Fame winner – Gelato Bello

Just like his favourite gelato flavour, Cassata, Marcus Nardone describes Gelato Bello being inducted into the Eastside Business Awards Hall of Fame as “perfect”.

Marcus credits the triumph to Gelato Bello's fiercely loyal customers who have steadily grown over two decades, then flourished even more when he took over the business in October 2022.

Prior to that, Marcus worked as the Operations Manager for seven years for former owner, Ross Halliday.

“When Ross said he wanted to retire, the timing just worked out perfectly and everything just fell into place,” Marcus said.

“But it was Ross who grew the business in the area and made it a staple and I thank him for that.

In order for a business to be nominated for a Hall of Fame Award

it must have operated within the City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters for at least 20 years.

Gelato Bello prides itself on producing authentic Italian gelato, the same as you would find walking the streets of Italy. They have 20 staff working in their retail store at Glynde and five staff involved in the production facility a little further up the road.

“The City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters does a great job with the Eastside Business Awards. The marketing and recognition is excellent.”

Looking to the future, Marcus, who co-owns Gelato Bello with his wife Sabrina and brother James, says there are “grand plans to rebrand and renovate as well as expand into wholesale and distribute to cafes and restaurants all over South Australia.”

Marcus says he is extremely grateful and humbled to receive such positive exposure and extends his heartfelt thanks to everyone who voted for Gelato Bello.

Just Lawful continues to Raise the Bar Adelaide

Veteran Raising the Bar guest speakers Sean Fewster and Daniel Panozzo, co-creators and co-hosts of the podcast, Just Lawful will once again be a feature of this iconic Council event. The Advertiser's Chief Court Reporter Sean Fewster tells Look East why the acclaimed initiative is so important, in this exclusive Q and A.

Daniel and you are now veterans of Raising the Bar—why do you keep returning to take part in this unique South Australian event?

Raising the Bar is, for both Daniel and myself, one of the highlights of the year. To be among such esteemed company as our fellow speakers is a real honour, and getting to speak directly to people in an open, engaging and free-flowing exchange of ideas and concepts is never less than fascinating. It's great to meet people who have listened to and enjoyed our work, brilliant to engage and debate with those who disagree with us or our approach, and better still to share our views with those who've never heard of us at all and are just taking a punt on having a great night out. No two Raising the Bar events are the same, and every time we're asked to be involved is a new experience and a great delight.

Raising the Bar is about listening and learning, with questions from the audience at the end. What is one of the most interesting questions you have been asked?

Part of the fun for me is being challenged. We've had lawyers and even judges in the audience, keen to probe our legal understanding or confront us on a point of difference. That's sparked some lively debates about clemency in sentencing, empathy for victims versus the rights of an accused, and what part bias plays in our approach. I also very much enjoy questions from young journalists, or students seeking to become journalists, about how to get started in the industry. That allowed Daniel and I to introduce my protege, Isabelle McMillan, to the audience and she's gone on to do amazing things in the time since.

There are 20 other speakers in total taking part in Raising the Bar at the same time. Looking back at previous years, who would you have liked to listen to, if you had the chance?

The sole downside to being part of Raising the Bar is missing out on listening to the other speakers. Daniel and I have made it a point to arrive early, or stay late, in order to hear the other speaker at our venue and have very much benefitted from hearing Derek McManus and Jules Schiller. We both have long associations with forensic psychologist Luke Broomhall and wish we could have attended his talks, along with Nicholas Proctor's work on trauma, Tammy Franks' talk on sex work, and Paul Tucker's excellent history of SA's convicted murderers.

Will your Raising the Bar presentation be different this year compared to previous years?

This year, we're focusing our presentation on something that affects everyone - bias. How we individually approach a subject, and the beliefs we bring to it both consciously and unconsciously, deeply affect our responses to that subject. Recognising one's bias is one thing, but actively putting it to one side and counteracting its effect is a difficult task. It's become second nature for me, in terms of daily journalism, but I've never had to articulate how I achieve it. And for Daniel, this has been a whole new experience - especially when counterbalanced with his natural empathy and inquisitive nature. We're hoping to share those experiences with our audience and ask them to challenge their own preconceived notions at the same time, using real cases as examples.

How has Just Lawful changed since last year?

We're so privileged that Just Lawful has continued to grow, both in terms of how we create the show and the audience that chooses to consume it. We were honoured with another award late last year, from the SA Press Club, and continue to enjoy the ongoing support of our broadcast partners at FIVEaa.

Personally, I think I've loosened up on-air somewhat and become a better communicator, while Daniel's legal acumen and insight has become frightfully sharp - no great surprise, as he's a constant adapter and innovator. Best of all, we've been told we've helped people process and come to terms with their own trauma while gaining empathy for others, and that's the best growth of all.

Aerial view of the St Peters Street Streetscape Upgrade

In just a few months, the community will see the final results of the Council's redevelopment of Dunstan Adventure Playground and Cruickshank Reserve, bringing joy to children, sport lovers and the wider community.

This is in addition to a range of other major projects which have just been completed, including the St Peters Street Streetscape Upgrade and remediation of erosion along the River Torrens.

St Peters Street Streetscape Upgrade

The upgrade of St Peters Street was completed in April 2023 and builds on the previous upgrades to the St Peters Precinct, including Linde Reserve, Dunstone Grove, St Peters Town Hall Complex and Avenue of Honour from Payneham Road to Second Avenue.

St Peters Street now provides an improved connection between the River Torrens Linear Park and other major focal points within the precinct, creating an enclosed boulevard and improved safety for pedestrians, cyclists and motorists.

To mark its completion, the Council hosted a barbeque in the Civic Plaza, to thank everyone involved in the delivery of the project.

The Federal Government contributed $1.27 million towards the project as part of its Local Government and Community Infrastructure Program with Green Adelaide contributing $200,000 as part of its Greener Neighbourhoods Program.

The Council funded the remaining balance of $3 million.

The Council has made a commitment to the community to deliver a range of exciting major projects.

Linear Park Bank Erosion Remediation Project

Dunstan Adventure Playground Upgrade

Cruickshank Reserve Facility Upgrade

Linear Park Bank Erosion Remediation Project

The Linear Park Bank Erosion Remediation Project was completed in June 2023. The work involved reconstruction of the riverbank along the River Torrens near Battams Road and Ninth Avenue, Royston Park.

Located alongside the River Torrens Linear Park Trail, a large segment of the riverbank had eroded adjacent to the existing stormwater outlet, undermining both the outlet and the surrounding embankment.

A rock revetment retaining wall was constructed to support the riverbank and create infrastructure to protect the local environment from future undermining and damage.

The $580,000 Linear Park Bank Erosion Remediation Project was constructed over a five-month period.

Dunstan Adventure Playground Upgrade

This iconic playground located in St Peters is scheduled to be open to the public in December this year.

A family favourite, the play space with the extra-long slippery slide, has been undergoing redevelopment since October 2022.

The Council undertook extensive consultation with members of the community, including children and Traditional Owners of the Land, before undertaking the upgrade which has cost $1.45 million, of which the State Government contributed $450,000 through its Open Space and Places for People Grants Program.

Cruickshank Reserve Facility Upgrade

Work is also expected to be completed in December this year at Cruickshank Reserve, Maylands, with the building of a new clubroom, changerooms, canteen and toilets. The new building is fit-for-purpose to support netball, tennis and other recreational activities.

The cost of the project is $1.3 million, with $889,000 from the Federal Government's Local Roads and Community Infrastructure Program which supports all Australian Councils to deliver priority local road and community infrastructure projects, creating jobs and long-lasting benefits for communities.

Seeking your views on slower speeds

Do you think the speed limit should be reduced to 40km/h?

The City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters is working towards improving road safety, encouraging sustainable transport and increasing community well-being.

We are seeking your views on reducing the speed limit from 50km/h to 40km/h in the residential streets of Marden, Royston Park, Joslin, St Peters, College Park and Hackney (excluding Stephen Terrace).

Concerns about speed on our roads is a regular issue raised with the Council from the community who want safer streets that give residents and visitors freedom to move around more safely.

Kitchen caddy with green waste

Don't be rubbish when it comes to your waste

To help you sort your food and garden organics, get a free kitchen caddy from the Council today.

In 2022, East Waste, on behalf of the City of Norwood Payneham & St Peters, carried out a kerbside bin audit.

The audit highlighted improvements that would result in less waste going to landfill and significant cost savings.

The audit revealed that 40.5% of waste found in general waste bins (with the red lid) was compostable material.

If disposed of correctly, this compostable material could have been turned into soil and garden compost and saved $423,000 annually in landfill costs.

Placing incorrect items in the recycling bin results in contamination which creates problems during the sorting of recyclables, as well as decreasing the ability of the items to be recycled into new products.

In some cases, just a few contaminated bins can ruin an entire truckload of recyclables!

Please present your proof of residence at the Norwood Town Hall or any of the Council's Libraries to collect your caddy and annual supply of compostable bags.
